Video Blogging Maker Kit

Guide

The included webcam allows you to do many different things with this kit. You can use the camera for video calling and to record short videos. You can make conference calls, catch up with friends or family, document special moments in your life, or a variety of other purposes.

Starting Out

The first thing to note is that you need a computer in order to successfully use this kit. Either a desktop or laptop computer will work. You should start by downloading the Logitech software onto your machine at https://www.logitech.com/en-us/product/capture. Once the software is installed, you can use it to record videos, or use the webcam for videos.

We have included a copy of the book How to Shoot Video That Doesn't Suck to get you started on the video-making side of things.
