AFTER A NATIONWIDE SEARCH, WASHINGTON-CENTERVILLE PUBLIC LIBRARY BOARD OF TRUSTEES HAS APPOINTED ELIZABETH (LIZ) FULTZ TO LEAD THE LIBRARY INTO THE FUTURE. Liz is no stranger to the Library or the local community. In 1996, she began her career at Washington-Centerville Public Library as the fifth person in the Reference Department, and one of only three with a Master of Library Science degree. As the Reference Department grew, so did her role. She became the Reference Team Leader and in 2009, was promoted to Centerville Library Building Manager. Most recently, in 2016, she was named Assistant Director.

Liz has been involved in nearly every facet of library planning and operations. She has participated in and/or led three strategic planning processes, developing the mission, vision, and values of the library, and was integral in the renovation, expansion, and reopening of Woodbourne Library. “I’m eager to take on the role of Director. I have a long history with Washington-Centerville Public Library and with the Centerville/Washington Township community, and I’m thrilled for the opportunity to lead the Library’s continued success,” says Liz. The Board of Trustees is equally excited to have Liz at the helm.” Ms. Fultz was ultimately selected for her depth of institutional knowledge, breadth of experience, proven track record of excellent library administration, and her well established relationships within the community,” comments Ram Nunna, President of the Board of Trustees. Please help us congratulate Liz! 🎉

Family-Friendly Library Events
Learning happens in all kinds of ways at the Library. From traditional books, and electronic courses via Lynda.com, to the wide variety of programs and classes held weekly. Another exciting way to learn is to visit exhibits that pop up from time to time in the Library. In the coming months, there are several exhibit opportunities to learn more about the resilience of Dayton, the servicemen and women who have served our country, and the diversity in picture book illustrations. All exhibits are open during normal library operating hours and therefore easy to peruse as part of your next library visit! Learn more about these exhibits in the General Programs section of this calendar. 🎨
